Vacancy: Ringer for autumn 2017 at Blåvand Bird Observatory.

Blåvand Bird Observatory is looking for an experienced ringer for the autumn monitoring program from 20th of July until 15th of November 2017. In the autumn, there will be a great species diversity and many interesting species are caught each year. You will be working in a comfortable place with optimal ringing facilities at one of the hotspots in Scandinavia.

At a stay of more than one month we can offer:

- Free accommodation in a charming and well equipped house in the westernmost point of Denmark.
- Good ringing facilities at one of the very best migration points in Scandinavia.
- DKK 150 per day (20 euro) in allowance.
- You will get a bicycle to get around for shopping, birdwatching and other activities.
- Free transportation within the DK national borders at arrival and departure.
- Your own room

We expect from you

- That you have a valid ringer's license that allows you to do ringing on your own.
- That your ringing activities meet the requirements of our migration program.
- That you daily enter ringing details in our ringing database and in the database of the Danish Ornithological Society.
- Daily writing the blog.
- That you actively take part in our public events.
